This amount represented contributions from Ballard W. George, Mrs. Walter Hammett, Judge C. E. Williams and Criminal District Attorney John R. Curington.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

White's Chapel Club. Styles in table linens and service remain unchanged throughout time, Miss Cora Roberts and Mrs. C. A. Still told a group of White's Chapel club women at the home of Mrs. Albert Beeman Wednesday evening.

Miss Roberts and Mrs. Still continued by demonstrating the proper way to set the table. For informal use any sort of cloth that is easily laundered is better. But be sure your cloth and napkins are spotless. Put your plate on then the knife on right with sharp edge toward plate, then other pieces, such as spoons and butter knife. On the left, put the forks. Always the one first used on the outside. The salad plate is at left, behind the forks and the water glass at the point of the knife. If the table is crowded put napkins in the plate. Otherwise, put them on the left with the opening toward the plate.

If flowers are used to decorate use a low bowl and place the flowers so they will not obstruct the view of others at the table. Dishes need not match but always have them to harmonize, and use the proper depth dishes for the foods served.

After a business session, the club adjourned and the hostess assisted by Mrs. Owens and Miss O. Thompson, served cake and ice cream to 25 club women.—Reporter.

MARAUDERS INVADE JEWISH COLONY OF LONDON ON MONDAY

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(P)—Fifty marauders invaded the Jewish colony in London's East End today to raid shops after police had quelled an earlier anti-fascist demonstration.

With bricks and stones, the roaming band smashed windows and plate glass fronts in a renewed al of street rioting which forced cancellation of a parade planned by Sir Oswald Mosley, British fascist leader.

Disturbances developed yesterday as Mosley's followers congregated near the town of London and anti-fascist demonstrators in the East End threatened to charge the procession. Police pressed Sir Oswald to call off the parade, and a riot broke out at a number of points.

Police pulled down barricades erected by communist demonstrators along the projected line of march. Approximately 100 persons were arrested and between 200 and 300 treated for minor injuries before order was restored in the district.

Monday night at the city park. The Grand Encampment will be concluded Tuesday, Oct. 13.

"BOY How my wife can COOK!"

—that's because she uses
a MODERN Electric Range

Once a chore—now a joy! That's the story of cooking in thousands of homes where an Electric Range has been installed. Natural enough, too. No woman can be expected to do a good job without modern conveniences. The old-fashioned stove was uncertain, slow—modern Electric Ranges are dependable and accurate to the last minute of cooking, and the last degree of cooking heat. Time and temperature control not only mean less work but certain results—foods with the flavor left in, not lost through over-long cooking—and it is economical, too.

See the new model Hotpoint Electric Ranges on display at our store. Let us show you how much they save in time, labor and foods. Prices are low, and convenient terms may be arranged for the purchase of any model.

LEGISLATURE TOLD FEDERAL GOVERNMENT NOT LEND TO TEXAS

WILL NOT FURNISH MONEY FOR PENSIONS; SEARCH FOR CASH IS STARTED

AUSTIN, Oct. 3.—(P)—Frank Bane, director of the National Social Security Board, told the house of representatives today the federal government would not lend money to Texas to meet old age pension needs this quarter. The board can only match funds in the state treasury or expected to be in the treasury before Jan. 1, he said.

One of the most troublesome problems facing the legislature was how to support the pension program between now and Jan. 1. Revenue from the tax measures, if they should be enacted, was not expected to start flowing in until next year.

Texas applied for $3,000,000 federal aid for the quarter starting Oct. 1. Bane expressed the opinion the state board would grant $750,000 at this time and later in the quarter would match only those funds actually in the state treasury. The state now has approximately $750,000.

Governor Alfred A. Sweeney proposed that the pension fund borrow $3,000,000 from the highway fund to meet emergency needs had aroused considerable opposition. Bills to transfer $440,000 from the permanent pension fund and $250,000 from the securities act fund, however, had received favorable committee reports.

Bane said the federal government would not match retroactive pensions as estimated by state authorities. This state would be paying more than twice as many persons in proportion to population as the average over the nation, the witness said.

AUSTIN, Oct. 3.—(P)—The house of representatives plunged ahead with its investigation of the pension administration today while the senate was in adjournment.

After questioning Orville S. Carpenter, state pensions director, and Oscar M. Powell, of San Antonio, regional director for the federal social security board, the committee hoped to hear from Frank Bane, national director of the board.

It also had questioned several district inspectors in the inquiry into pension fund mismanagement. The committee was needed to determine whether new taxes for old age assistance should be voted.

Governor Alfred called the session to raise such revenue as the state supply of pension money ran low and federal authorities delayed remitting matching funds requested.

Carpenter told the representatives he doubted the federal government would match the state until the latter was in the treasury or the legislature had voted taxes for it. Previously, he had said the federal authorities thought Texas' pension law was too liberal.

Powell said that in July about four times as many persons in proportion to population were receiving pensions in Texas as in New Mexico.

Rep. Joe Caldwell of Asherton planned to begin an investigation of reported communistic teachings in state colleges next week and said a number of University of Texas students had volunteered to appear before a committee of five to be appointed by Speaker Coke Stevenson.

LUBBOCK, Oct. 3.—(P)—Denial that communism "in any guise" is taught at Texas Technological College was made today by President Bradford Knapp after he had been informed the Texas house of representatives had authorized inquiry into charges that communism is taught in state-supported institutions.

"I should expel a professor guilty of such a charge," Knapp is quoted as saying. "There is not the merest suggestion here of teaching communism or disloyalty to the established form of government," he said.

EIGHT PRISONERS
ESCAPE FROM TWO
STATE PRISON FARMS

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 3.—(P)—Eight prisoners escaped from widely separated convict farms last night and today.

Francisco, 21, Beeville, and Remigio Escobar, 31, Houston, took a pistol from Guard W. H. Barrow at the Blue Ridge prison farm late yesterday and fled.

Shortly after midnight six negroes sawed bars from their sleeping quarters on the Darrington farm and escaped.

Capt. J. H. Midkiff of the Blue Ridge farm, reported to prison officials today, bloodhounds were sent out to search for the escapees. He said guards expected to capture the Mexicans soon.

Capt. H. J. Jackson of the Darrington farm, said one of the six negroes had been captured and the others were not far in advance of posse.

Darrington, with an unblemished escape record this year is at Sandy Point. The Blue Ridge farm is a few miles south of Houston.

Garcia was serving a 10-year sentence from Bee county for rape. He was sentenced in May, 1934. Escobar, serving five years for burglary from Wharton county, was sentenced in June of this year.

The Darrington escapees were E. C. Carter, 35, of Dallas; Nathaniel Slayton, 22, of Dallas; Alfred Smith, 23, of Dallas; Organ Wilson, 17, of Harlingen and Buck Beal, 26, of Dallas. Jack Johnson, 40, of Roysse City, was the convict recaptured.

All the fleeing negroes were being chased by a posse serving sentences for robbery and two for burglary.

Eagle Pass Has Quarter Million In Fire Damage

Damage was estimated unofficially at $250,000 in a fire that destroyed the three-story Yolanda Hotel and three other structures here last night.

The blaze threatened the entire downtown section before it was brought under control by firemen and volunteers.

A strong wind fanned the flames. Starting in the basement, the J. C. Penny store, the first space in the hotel, the Guarantees Department Store and the Yolanda Coffee Shop.

A negro porter, Booker T. Washington, was shot in the knee while removing an armload of rifles from the hotel.

DECLARES PRESENT DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION HAS BETRAYED PARTY

By R. H. HIPPELHEUSER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(P)—Alfred E. Smith joined hands today with Gov. Alf M. Landon in the presidential campaign, going all the way in his opposition to the party of his one-time friend and political associate, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Taking "a walk," as he prophesied he would do in his address before the American Liberty League last January, the former governor and 1928 Democratic presidential candidate declared last night at a Carnegie Hall rally.

"I firmly believe that the remedy for the ills that we are suffering from today is the election of Alf M. Landon."

After his address, Smith said he would continue to advocate the election of the Republican candidate in all of his campaign speeches.

Smith's declaration of support brought a prompt expression of appreciation from Gov. Landon who said in reply:

"I am glad to appreciate the support of Alfred E. Smith, a great Democrat and a great American. He has placed country above partisanship."

In continuing his break with the president, Smith said:

"I have no grudge against the national administration or against anybody connected with it. My only fault with them is that they have betrayed the party, x x x."

"This is not a Democratic administration. It is never referred to as such by its own people. It is called a New Deal. You don't hear of Democratic policies. You hear of Roosevelt policies."

After declaring that the Roosevelt administration gave the "strength and the power of the so-called Democratic party to the hands of communists of other parties so long as they supported the New Deal, Smith declared:

"Why, even a communist with wire whiskers and teeth in his hands is welcome so long as he signs on the dotted line."

Twice hecklers interrupted the address.

Won't you please explain why you don't agree with the people that turned against Roosevelt?" shouted a man in the second row, when Smith pictured himself as having defended Roosevelt when almost every other leader in the state was against him.

Some shouted threats to throw the heckler out bodily; but Smith replied:

"That is a rather complicated question. I had better let it go. One minute. I have the platform. After I get finished you can get up here and have as much as you want to say."

Just as Smith's declaration for Gov. Landon was being applauded, a heavy-set man in the left center of the orchestra shouted that former Mayor James J. Walker had shown "more grace than the once 'Happy Warrior'." Smith's radio time was ended. And he made no reply, but the shouting crowd headed for the heckler.

There was no actual violence, however.

Smith mentioned Gov. Landon's name only once in the last sentence.

Smith's address was made under the auspices of the Independent Coalition of American Women, a pro-Landon organization.

Smith's declaration of support for the Kansas governor came at the end of his half-hour speech. He said:

"I am an American before I am a Democrat, before I am a Republican, or before I am anything. I have never in my long public career, during which I have been properly called a party man, faulted with anything unless I was prepared to suggest a remedy; and while I may differ on matters of party policy, I regard these things in the crisis of today as merely my own."

FAMOUS SLUGGING ATTACK OF AMERICAN LEAGUERS CLICKED

YANKS WIN SECOND GAME IN WHICH RECORD FOR RUNS
SCORED IS SET

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(P)—The full might of the Yankee slugging attack, climaxed by Tony Lazzeri's home run with the bases full in the third, fell upon the Giants today in full view of President Roosevelt and 43,543 other fans, crushing the National league champions, 18 to 4, evening the civil war of Manhattan at one game all and setting a new series record for runs scored in a single game.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(P)—Climaxed by Tony Lazzeri's home run with the bases full in the third, equalling a world series record, the mighty Yankee sluggers blasted four Giant pitchers for a 10 to 4 lead today in the first six innings of the second game of the series.

The number of churches and chapels completely destroyed was set at 29 while between 300 and 400 others have been sacked, used for barracks or hospitals or converted for other purposes by officials for other purposes.

Still undetermined was the fate of 101 Augustinian friars who previously were imprisoned in Madrid and later were sent under military guard to an undetermined destination.

Lazzeri's belt into the right field stands the third climaxed a seven-run rally that carried the ball game apart as Frank Crosetti, Red Rolfe and Joe Dimaggio trotted home ahead of him.

The Yankees' lead came in the fourth when Duke Bartell, Giant pitcher, missed a home run off erratic Lefty Gomez with the bases full in the fourth, the ball landing foul in the left field seats for no more than a foot.

Hal Schumacher, Giant slinker, one game all, Gomez was terribly erratic. He fanned seven and allowed seven walks in the first six innings. The Giants only hit safely, however, four times.

Many Nuns and Priests Killed In Spanish War

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press.)
(ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 3.—(P)—More than 500 priests and nuns have been killed during the Spanish civil war, an unofficial but authoritative compilation showed today.

Of this number, approximately 400 were priests or male church officials while the remainder were nuns. Five bishops—those of Barcelona, Sigüenza, Segovia, Jaca and Lerida—were included in the death toll.

The compilation showed at least 500 more were missing, many of whom are believed in civilian clothes hiding in Spain. Approximately 1,000 others were declared to have fled the country.

RECORD CROWD OF OVER 70,000 FANS WITNESS GOOD GAME

YANKS WIN GAME DESPITE FACT THEY WERE OUTHIT
ELEVEN TO FOUR

YANKEE STADIUM,
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(P)—Despite Freddy Fitzsimmons' superb four-hit pitching, the Yankees edged out a lucky 2 to 1 victory in the third game of the world series today, taking a lead of two games to one as the all-Manhattan battle resumed before a record-shattering crowd of about 70,000 in the American League park.

The Yankees' lead came in the fourth when Duke Bartell, Giant pitcher, missed a home run off erratic Lefty Gomez with the bases full in the fourth, the ball landing foul in the left field seats for no more than a foot.

LAWMAKERS BEGIN SESSION BY SERIES OF DELVING ORDERS

CAUSTIC DEBATE PROBE
ADOPTION ORDER MARKED
TEACHING COMMUNISM

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—(P)—The house of representatives today ordered an investigation of charges communism was being taught in state colleges.

It adopted 71 to 57 a resolution by Rep. Joe Caldwell of Asherton providing for a committee of five to conduct the investigation.

Caldwell told the legislators he had documentary evidence that certain faculty members were teaching communism and attracting "young zealots" to their support.

Opponents of the resolution charged the resolution was an effort to manufacture material for the publicists in the national campaign and was engineered by enemies of President Roosevelt.

An investigation of the state old age assistance administration already was under way, and an investigation of the state liquor administration had been proposed.

The resolution was adopted after the house several times refused to place it in committee. It refused to table the resolution 62 to 67; to refer to the education committee, 63 to 68; to the committee of five, 62 to 95; and to the committee on state affairs, 52 to 76.

Matter Declared Absurd
Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock, told the house that the "whole thing is perfectly absurd" in view of the fact "the governor called us here to raise revenue for pensions."

A similar stand was taken by Rep. Harry N. Graves, veteran of many investigating committees who urged the house "to get down to business," conclude the pension inquiry and raise revenue to meet old age assistance needs.

On the other hand, Rep. Lonnie Smith of Fort Worth said the charges should be sifted and if found true "the guilty men should be scourged from the temples of knowledge."

He said the University of Texas, might be summoned before a committee if one was appointed.

Rep. John B. Patterson of Austin, told the house that the "whole thing is perfectly absurd" in view of the fact "the governor called us here to raise revenue for pensions."

STRAW VOTES HARMFUL

Are straw votes during a political campaign good or bad? Among those who take the latter view is Prof. F. Ernest Johnson of Columbia University, who writes to the New York Times:

"Every experienced educator is aware that the surest way to frustrate the purposes of a forum or discussion group is to take a straw vote at the outset of the question at issue. Such a prejudging of the matter under consideration throws the educational process that is supposed to be going on entirely out of balance.

"Is it not equally undesirable to drench the country, while the canvass for votes is still in progress, with information to the effect that the premature opinion of the voters appears to be thus and so? If there is any doubt as to the deleterious effect of this process on efforts toward genuine political education, it should vanish when one observes how party managers grow jubilant or turn pale over the bulletins of the opinion polls.

"They know very well, as Mark Sullivan said a day or two ago, that the straw votes are 'indexes which not only indicate—but also tend to create that which they indicate.'"

There is a good deal of truth in this point of view. Nevertheless indications are that the straw-balling will go right on, and we shall have more of it rather than less, because it is interesting and people welcome it as lively, running comment on the "political game." We regard politics largely as a sport.

CIVILIZED STREET TRAFFIC

An American newspaper man visiting London is amazed at the quietness and orderliness. There is an almost complete absence of traffic noises, in spite of the vast volume of vehicles and pedestrians, the narrowness and crookedness and obliqueness of streets and the great number of horses and bicycles.

"It is all done," says this observer, "with an orderliness and efficiency and a general air of patience almost impossible for an American driver to comprehend. Nobody toots his horn at the fellow in front of him. Cab drivers do not curse loudly at pedestrians and truck drivers who get in their paths. Policemen do not shout in anger at persons who get confused or those who violate rules. And not once in six days have I seen or heard anything that approximated a minor incident such as a crumpled fender or a pedestrian knocked down by a careless driver.

"Everybody seems to have made up his mind to proceed slowly and carefully, for he knows it will do him no good to get ahead of the man in front. He shows the same unflinching courtesy while in an automobile that he shows in a dining room, in a subway station, in an elevator or while doing business.

"Poise, temperance, forbearance, good manners and serenity, some of the better traits everywhere, appear to be highly developed."

These are traits of civilization. Apparently it is possible for even automobile traffic to become civilized.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1935, Edgar A. Guest.)

ETERNAL THOUGHT.
He did no more than sing a song
Against what seemed a vicious wrong.
Yet when the sweet refrain was heard
The minds of men were deeply stirred.
And ere the sun at dawn arose
The tyrant faced a million foes.
Born to a manner mild and meek,
His was the voice that dared to speak.
Injustice rules by force and might,
Massed guns may triumph over right.
But never yet has tyrant fought
Successfully against a thought.

Doomed was the tyrant from the day
The minstrel sang his simple lay.
A bullet's flight is quickly sped,
But dreams and thoughts live on to spread
And once the right is voiced it finds
Eternal life in countless minds.

MIDDLE-CLASS CON-FUSION

Studying the delicate political situation in France, which might result in another French revolution if the nation cannot agree on a program before long, Dorothy Thompson, in the New York Herald Tribune, analyzes it as follows:

On one side is a conservative group dominated by 200 wealthy and powerful families, with perhaps 50,000 more families behind them, "whose whole philosophy is that government exists to further their interests, and that those interests and the welfare of the whole are inseparable."

On the other side are 4,000,000 organized workers, of whom half are actually "class-conscious and ready for action."

Between these right and left extremes, both relatively small in numbers, are 37,000,000 Frenchmen divided among themselves and divided even in their own hearts. They see that things are out of joint. They want economic security and a decent living standard. They are the soundest, most productive and stable group in the nation. They provide intelligence and leadership for all the other classes, but themselves, as a group, seem powerless for lack of unity.

"And yet," says Miss Thompson, "it is to the intellectuals, who spring predominantly from this great group of the center, that we ought to expect the new synthesis for which the whole world is looking. It is they who ought to effect the fashion between change and tradition; the integration of liberty with authority. It is they who ought to furnish the new principles by which valid standards of social behavior can be set. For it is only from them that we can expect a disinterested program based upon knowledge, that we can expect standards approaching universal validity."

WORLD MONEY AGREEMENT

With France, Britain and America, the three greatest financial powers, coming to agreement at last about their currencies, the world's business and political situation looks more hopeful.

Through long-delayed devaluation of her gold franc, to match the devalued British pound and American dollar, France seems to make possible a new "monetary equilibrium" for these three countries, and through them for the rest of the world.

It is obviously a delicate matter for the Blum government, which came into power pledged to maintain the gold value of the franc. Such pledges go by the board in Paris, as they did some years ago in London and later in Washington, as a result of economic stress. Premier Blum runs the risk of a government upset. But he feared a worse upset if he continued loyal to the existing gold standard, with French gold draining away and French business more than prostrated by the forced deflation.

Precious metals are turned upside down. Nobody seems to want gold and silver nowadays, but scrap iron prices are soaring.

Some scientist has discovered a new poison gas, when what the world needs is a new laughing gas.

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED

EASY PEACE AND PROSPERITY

A group of international economists and financial experts has been at work studying world problems and has reached certain conclusions as to how to save civilization.

First, the economists urge all nations to ease their trade restrictions "at once." This "will expand the world market even faster than the growth of ability to produce." Restrictions which raise prices to consumers depress living standards.

In politics, the economists urge the leading nations to "seek without delay to substitute friendship for fear and to stabilize the politics of the world."

Armaments cannot be reduced until there is a general sense of security, and there can be no security "unless confidence in the future is restored—based on international justice." There should be an active campaign in every country to "inform public opinion of established facts."

It is a thoroughly sensible report. If translated into international action there can be little doubt that both peace and prosperity will advance throughout the world.

There is one drawback. No committee or individual has yet explained how to accomplish these excellent plans. No nation will take the lead in dropping all "trade restrictions," in disarming or in guaranteeing peace. The slow processes of education and evolution are still civilization's best bets.

SERVICE.

How are business "chisellers," in gas stations for instance, to be met? An oil company executive tells service station owners the remedy is not undercutting them in turn, and dragging everybody down, but co-operating with the supplying companies and the customers. Instead of price-cutting he proposes better service.

"Make your station more attractive," he says. "Make your service more complete, more reliable, more courteous, more prompt. Think up some added item to give it unique character that will make it known and liked."

This is better than rate wars which ruin dealers and in the long run bring no benefit to consumers.

WOMAN SENTENCED
FORTY-FIVE YEARS IN DEATH HUSBAND

MERIDIAN, Oct. 2.—(P)—Mrs. Glomer Jernstad, 26, was under a 45-year prison sentence today for the death of her husband, Menlo Jernstad, last April 24.

A jury which deliberated only one hour convicted her of murder last night.

A statement attributed to Mrs. Jernstad, introduced by the state, it quoted her as saying she put poison furnished by George Pace, 27-year-old tenant farmer, in her husband's coffee.

Pace faces trial in the same case Monday.

ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY WHEN TWO AUTOMOBILES CRASH

Nine persons narrowly escaped serious injury about 11 o'clock Saturday morning when two automobiles figured in a crash at the intersection of West Seventh avenue and South Twentieth street, causing considerable excitement.

In one car were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Butler and a year-old son, Edward Eugene W. C. Butler. Hazel Butler, Willie Lee Butler, Bessie Butler and Nancy Butler, all residents of the Drane community. All received minor cuts and scratches, but were not thought to be seriously injured. Apparently none had broken bones or internal injuries.

Occupant of the other car was Mrs. Frank Moon, who escaped injury.

Occupants of the Butler car were taken to the Navarro Clinic for examination and first-aid treatment.

Both machines were badly damaged.

SALES TAX

Republicans of North Carolina directed an energetic attack upon everything sold at retail except milk. They pledged governmental economies which would permit immediate repeal of the tax. Democrats defended it but advocated removal of the levy from the necessities of life.

In Illinois, C. Wayland Brooks, republican nominee for governor, blasted at the democratic administration's 3 per cent tax, promising its removal from necessities. Defending the measure, Governor Henry Horner asked his audience to name an adequate substitute.

The tax was a minor issue in West Virginia, where both parties talked of limiting the 2 per cent levy. The sales tax was injected into the Indiana campaign by democrats who claimed the republican proposal to repeal the gross income tax smacked of a possible transaction levy.

Michigan May Exempt Food.

Michigan voters will decide in November whether to exempt food from the state's 3 per cent sales tax. Wyoming's tax, expiring automatically March 31, 1937, was a minor issue. In Colorado, an amendment was on the ballot for a 4 per cent minimum old age pension, which some groups said would perpetuate the sales tax there.

The question of a general sales tax was an issue in the Texas primary. Ray Sanderford, the sales tax advocate in the governor's race, finished fourth in a field of five. Governor James V. Allred has announced he will veto a general sales tax if it were passed.

Louisiana's 2 per cent "luxury" sales tax was a political issue. In Kansas, legislative leader have proposed a sales tax to meet the costs of social security legislation, but the state legislature has not yet formed.

The 2 per cent tax on Idaho was an issue, with a referendum scheduled for November. Republicans generally opposed it as a "tax on poverty."

erty damaged and Sunday peace shattered completely—started when communists took over the park for a rally.

Fascists previously had declared they would hold a session in the same location but the communists got up early and got there first.

Helmeted policemen guarded the 100,000 leftist supporters as rightists called with Col. Francois De La Rocque's party began salutes against small groups. Most of the fighting occurred in the outskirts of the crowd with opposing forces attacking and retreating in turn.

The communist mass meeting proceeded during the uproar in the vicinity. Speakers praised the Popular Front government of Premier Leon Blum and condemned fascism as "Public Enemy No. 1."

They demanded the arrest of De La Rocque on a charge of starting a "civil war" and other leftist groups ridiculed the retreat of his supporters before squads of mobile guardsmen.

MARKET FOR 50,000 BALES OF COTTON IS SEEN IN HAWAII

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Southern growers may realize an added market for 50,000 bales of cotton annually, if experiments being conducted here successfully produce a new type bag for sugar shipments.

Department of agriculture and sugar officials are experimenting with the substitution of cotton containers for the jute bags now used to ship approximately 1,000,000 tons of raw sugar annually to mainland refining plants.

Preliminary tests have indicated that cotton bags, although tripling the original cost, eventually will prove economical because of greater durability than jute. The Hawaiian sugar industry uses 20,000,000 containers annually, each holding 100 pounds of raw sugar.
